Dear English Education Students:

On behalf of the Languages and Literature Department, I want to welcome you to a new academic year of English studies and activities as you progress toward your degree completion in secondary English teaching.

I am happy to have the opportunity to work with you and get to know you this year, and my goal is to meet and talk with each of you at least once, if not more often, during this semester.

As registration is right around the corner for spring semester courses, I want to remind you that you'll find an "academic hold" when you go to your MyFSU academic information. This will be lifted when you meet with me to review your spring courses (and your overall plan, too).

You can contact me (see the information in my signature below) to arrange an advising appointment for registration to review your academic program plan and sequence. Remember, if you are an on-line student, or one who lives at a distance from Big Rapids, we can arrange this advising session by phone.

In the meantime, if you have questions, comments, suggestions, or any other needs, I hope you'll contact me.

I encourage your full and active engagement in your course work and--where you are able--in extra-curricular activities, to enrich your university experiences and your English studies.

All the best,

Christine Vonder Haar, Associate Professor
