

HVACR 2006 Students Think Outside the Booth

Ferris HVACR students network for employment at the AHR EXPO trade show in Chicago, IL

Over 94 students attended the world's largest HVACR event, The AHR EXPO trade show held at the McCormick Place on January 21, 2006, in Chicago, IL to network for employment within the HVACR industry. Students attending the event sported Ferris Pride pins with ribbons that read: "Why hire me? I am graduating with a degree in HVACR from Ferris State University!"

Jason Kopyczyk, a junior from Milford, MI comments, "This event allows for promotion at a national level. Students get an eye opening glimpse of the industry as a whole and a great head start on internship and job searching opportunities." Jason adds, "I have gathered a handful of business cards from employers seeking HVACR designers and distributed a box of business cards. You can't beat that!"
